

KIPPY KIT WINS NATIONAL REPUTATION

Following is a letter received by Lawrence G. Geller, of the fast-growing Kippy Kit Co., from Miss Anna Schleyer, a former resident of this city. This letter is a testimonial of the great success the Kippy Kit has become and of its wide-spread popularity.

Longview, Wash., Dec. 7 1930
My Dear Mr. Geller:
No doubt, you will scratch your cranium and wonder "how come this letter from Longview, Wash." The contents may not even interest you, yet they do me—hence this impulse to write you.

Last Thursday I attended a joint meeting of the Longview Rotary and Kiwanis Club—I played for them and happened to be the only woman there—and I wasn't a bit scared. Well to get down to my story. I happened to get to the meeting a little early and was greeted by two of the men who were examining a small article. The one man held the article towards me and said, "See here Miss Schleyer I've made a Christmas purchase and isn't it a keen little affair?" I looked at it and of course grinned all over by Dutch countenance and said in the vernacular of today—"I'll say it is—for that little Kippy Kit is manufactured in my home town by a versatile young man that I've known all my life—one of the finest and most progressive of men." Dr. Sale said—"what are you giving us anyway?" I said—"alright, just look at the little folder that lies in the bottom of the attractive box you just took this Kippy Kit out of and see if it doesn't say it is manufactured in Circleville, Ohio, round town we call it there." He looked and sure enough he found exactly what I told him he'd find.

I asked him where he purchased it and he said at the Bonita Art Shop. This Bonita Art Shop is a very classy store—nothing but the best and artistic things are found there. Few cities, four times the size of Longview can boast of such a store. He immediately noticed it around that I knew the manufacturer of the Kippy Kit and showed the Kippy Kit. I was asked to tell about you and your plant. Of course I would tell a lot about you—but couldn't tell them a thing about the plant where the Kippy Kit is manufactured. Neither could I tell them if you were a Rotarian or Kiwanian—but I felt sure you were one or the other. I knew you had attended college at two different places—but could only remember that you went to Amherst.

Some time ago mother sent me a clipping from the Circleville paper which had your picture and told of your many interests and activities. At that time I showed that to a very good friend of mine here, who is exactly your height and has a magnificent bass voice and who has many of your characteristics, and then gave it to May and Ralph to read. I asked May for it yesterday and she said she had destroyed it. This man I just spoke of is a Lion's Club member and Friday evening he was here. Before he took his coat off he said—"I've been shopping for my brothers Christmas gifts and I want to show you a keen little thing I ran across." He tore off the wrapping and behold, there was another Kippy Kit in a beautiful brown leather.

Well, again I told about the Kippy Kit manufacturer and told him you were the man of the clipping I had shown him, and he got quite interested.

Yesterday afternoon as I was waiting down for a bus to go to my Kelso, Wash., studio I walked up to the window of the Columbia River Mercantile Co. and the first thing I saw was two "Kippy Kits"—and on a card below them it said "For him—this nifty Kippy." Then last night two of the teachers who room with me came from down town and said—"Oh, look at this dandy little affair we got down town," and out came two more Kippy Kits, and again I "spit out" about them being made in my home town by a very fine young man I'd known all my life.

By the way—the President of the Longview Board of Education is a former Chillicothe and Columbus man—J. L. Secrest, a nephew of Fred Secrest who used to be in the hardware business in Circleville. Mr. Secrest was also a college mate at Ada, O., of Mr. Charles Gearhardt of Circleville and G. W. Morrison of Ashville. Another member of the B. of E. is an Ohio man, graduate of Oberlin College and quite a friend of Cleo Cowgers. The mayor of Longview is from Columbus, O., a brother of Judge Gibbs. This man has been the only mayor Longview has had in her 61-2 years of existence.

There are dozens of Ohio people here and May says I've tracked every one of them down. The President of the Kiwanis Club here is an Ohioan and tells me he ate many a meal at the Boggs Hotel when he used to be going over the state of Ohio demonstrating trucks for the White Motor Co. and distinctly remembers Mr. Van Riper and Uncle Gus Schleyer.

I must quite this rambling on which no doubt is tedious to you. But first I want to ask you if you will write me and tell me about the plant that manufactures the Kippy Kit, how you came to do it after having been in the broom business for so long, etc., etc. Also tell me how old you are—I didn't attempt that the day I was writing to the men, for I wasn't sure. Yet I thought you must be somewhere near 35. And where did you go to college besides Amherst? I am asking this because I've been asked to give a sketch of you and the Kippy Kit at another joint meeting of the Rotary and Kiwanis Club on Dec. 24, the day before Christmas. So you see I want first hand information. I enjoy the frequent contact I've had with the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions Club ever since I came here.

I'm glad I can play, that's how I get there, they ask me to play and also sometimes to accompany singers. One gets quite a thrill living in a new, growing, wide awake city, especially one so cosmopolitan as Longview. Seven foreign countries and thirty-four states of the Union are represented in its population. You should see the $650,000 high school building. It is the last word in school construction and equipment. The Longview high school football team was never even scored against in any game this season.

I did not mean to write you at such length, but it seems I did, but I did want you to know how the Kippy Kit has gained favor in Longview, and I feel a sense of pride in being able to say I know its manufacturer.

Sincerely yours,
Anna Schleyer.

Decoration of Court and Main Now Completed

The Christmas decoration at Court and Main-sts is now in use and adds real beauty to this corner. The decorations for this down town corner were made possible through the co-operation of The Southern Ohio Electric Co., The Ohio Fuel Gas Co., The Ohio Water Service Co., and The Citizens' Telephone Co., with the Chamber of Commerce.

The work was done by employees from these Utilities and to them credit should be given for their were the men who climbed the poles, strung the wires, hung the decorations, etc., and only with their experience as climbers could this work have been done so satisfactorily and speedily.

L. S. Lytle, of the Southern Ohio Electric Co., had charge of this part of the work and was assisted by Henry Davis, Nolan Sims, Roy Harrington and George Hutchinson, of the Southern Ohio Electric Co., Bert Poling and Hoadley Brintlinger, of the Citizens Telephone Co., and John Essick of the Water Co.

HOLD TWO IN BANK FAILURE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 13.—Two high officials of the Guaranty Building and Loan Association were lodged in the county jail here today and the head bookkeeper was in technical custody as authorities prepared to delve deeper into the looting of the corporation. Gilbert H. Bessemyer, head of the corporation, confessed to speculations which authorities believe may reach the vast total of $8,000,000.

Small Homes Have Good Chance In Xmas Contest

In the Christmas Lighting and Decorating contest, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the decoration for homes can take many forms and by various effects produce an enchanting array of displays that radiate the Christmas message in glowing rays of light. The beauty of the simple, but original, lighting installation has been exemplified in recent prize winning exhibitions held in other cities.

Even in the contest held last year one of the major prize winners was a small porch with an original idea, properly lighted, coming in ahead of some of the larger homes with many lights. This contest gives each entry an opportunity to test his ingenuity and in so doing plan an exhibit that will be quite inexpensive and original, which will be one of the main points of judging.

The business men can decorate their buildings and plan their lighting effects, or they may decorate their display window or windows. Here again the originality and uniqueness plays a big part in the display.

For this reason the person with a small home or small display window need not hesitate in entering the contest for fear of the larger home or display window having an advantage.

NOTE OF TRIBUTE
Following is a note of tribute to the deceased girl from a patron of the Betz store:

ANN BEERY
The patrons of the Betz Restaurant were shocked to learn of the passing Friday of a life so full of hope, ambition and womanly sweetness.

Always courteous and obliging, she quickly won the hearts of the habitués of the place and became a prime favorite with the public. She had the charm of youth, a merry heart, a winsome smile, a hearty laugh, coupled with the vibrant nature and grace of a girl just budding into womanhood. Her very eyes danced attendance when taking orders, and she no sooner had taken them than you were served. She was an ideal waitress, obliging and accommodating.

A life in the short space of twenty years has passed on. To those who knew the girl personally, they knew that she was one girl in a thousand, with high ideals she strove to carry out her ambition. But now her merry laugh has been stilled. The night has come for her spirit. The light of the restaurant has gone out.

Plans for an annual meeting in January will also be discussed.

SHOW PRIZES

Merchants who have designated their intention of giving prizes in the Chamber of Commerce's Christmas lighting contest are asked to place their prizes in their show windows placing a card on them announcing that they are for winners in the contest.

LONG ISLAND BOY BANDITS GO TO DEATH

Youths Who Slew Druggist Walk Calmly to Death at Sing Sing Pen.

STAY IS DENIED

Gov. Roosevelt Says Law Shows Trio Guilty.

BY LAWRENCE DUMONS
OSSING, N. Y., Dec. 14.—Three Long Island cry-baby bandits, looking too scared to cry, asked to their deaths in the Sing Sing pen midnight last night. Charles Bauer is February.

The youths, James H. Bolger, 22, and Bolger, 19, had won three from death so that they could hear the pleas of mothers, ministers and to commute their sentences imprisonment.

Hope for a last minute reprieve by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt was denied.

Butler died silently. Ferdinand talked. Bolger said little.

ALL ARE QUIET

While the stars shone outside the tall blonde Butler walked into the small death chamber in carpet slippers, gray trousers, white shirt open at the neck. He shook his head when asked if he had anything to say. With a fixed smile like the picture of an angel he swung himself into the electric chair, the electrodes were adjusted and the switch thrown, and in five minutes he died.

Three doctors applied stethoscopes and one said, "I think this man to be dead." The body of Butler was then wheeled off to the opposite side of the room.

"Hello, gentlemen," called Ferdinand as he came in the door. He stood before the chair and recited, "All I have to say is I am ready to meet my doom, blessed by mother, my sweetheart—'his throat caught'—and my parents."

He sat down and as they adjusted the death mask he said solemnly, "Oh, father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

A moment later he uttered his last words, "Boys, I'll pass over with a smile on my face."

Bolger slumped an attendant on the back as he entered. "Gentlemen, I die like I lived, with a smile on my face," he said.

He kissed the cross, felt the mask over his nose, and died.

EXPECTED CLEMENCY
Up to the last the three had hoped for executive clemency.

But Governor Roosevelt in a statement denying clemency said legal guilt was beyond doubt, though he sympathized with the parents. "While it is true that some of them had actually been convicted of a crime before, they were at the time of the commission of the murder engaged in their arena robbery within two weeks, with the use of two guns. On this attempt they met with some resistance, a scuffle ensued, the revolver in the hand of one of the men (Ferdinand) was discharged, and the proprietor was killed," he said.

PLAN TO OBSERVE 100 ANNIVERSARY

There will be a special meeting of the Circleville Masonic Chapter, Number 20, at the lodge house Monday at 7 p. m., when plans for the celebration of their 100th anniversary will be discussed.

A VIEW OF WORSHIP

Chancey Depew says, "from my experience of 93 years, I am now more firmly anchored to the Bible than ever before and I believe implicitly in its teachings and the God it portrays. I have always felt a real dependence upon God, a God who is a person rather than a force."

"God becomes a person as we worship him. Not to worship God has a tendency to cause to look upon life as something only material."

All this commotion about Christmas—what does it mean? Is it purely commercial? Or is there a hidden and a deeper meaning? Once we lose sight of the deeper meaning all that is best in Christmas vanishes and we have a holiday like so many others. But something in our hearts will not let us lose sight of the deeper and the real meaning. Every radio presentation will have some Christmas music as a feature. There will be the carols that are traditional. There will be the hymns we have learned to love to sing. If you do not have the hidden meaning of Christmas inspiring your heart to church tomorrow for an hour of worship and open your heart to the blessedness that comes to all who come to God in humility, their need as their prayer. All of us need this preparation for Christmas is to mean more than a holiday.

Hi Teams Open Season With Defeat, Victory

Boys Defeated, Girls Victors

Protecting an early lead which was 4-0 at the end of the first period and 8-3 at halftime, Miss Rains' Circleville high school girls turned back a heated Alumni rally at the high school Friday evening to win 15-14. With the score 15-14 and only a minute to play the Alumni took time out and although three shots presented themselves in this final minute none of them dropped through the hoop and the game ended with the varsity on the long end of the count.

Much promise is found in this girls' lineup for every person in the starting lineup is a veteran from last year when an impressive record was hung up.

Eldridge started the scoring for the high school when she shipped loose for two shots under the net. Jones' free throw was the first Alumni point and she added a goal before the half ended, score 8-3.

The third period became hotter with the Alumni outplaying the varsity. The period ended 13-9 with the high school still ahead. The losers gained points in the final period but couldn't connect or the goal that would have changed the outcome of the contest.

Although failing during a greater part of the game to show the kind of basket shooting she did last season, Jean Fitzpatrick was high scorer for the game with three buckets and three charity tosses. It was these charity throws that decided the game for each team counted two goals in the opening period and Hittler accounted for the other two points. Jones, Mader and Crist did the Alumni scoring. Jones counting three goals and two fouls, Mader two goals and Crist one action shot.

A. B. Sears refereed the game. Lineup and summary:

Losing an advantage of six points at the end of the first period when they led the Alumni team 6-0, the Circleville high school Tigers lost their first encounter Friday evening 32-18. The game was fast and interesting from the start but when the Red and Black couldn't prevent the Alumni gang from slipping loose under the net and from shooting near the foul zone, they met defeat. Probably this Alumni outfit will not be as hot again as it was Friday evening for every time the opportunity presented itself, a two-pointer was scored with that zone directly back of the foul circle providing the favorite spot for the shots.

The high school started nicely with Purcell, then McClure and White hitting the loop for goals. The Alumni was held scoreless in the first period. In the second with this foul zone shot coming into prominence the former school stars counted 12 points while the varsity was tallying three and at the half the Alumni was leading 12-9. They scored nine points in the third session while the high school counted five and in the final period hit the hoop for 11 points against four.

Big Zeke Zeimer, who should be a senior in the high school now, proved the thorn in the side of the school team.

'Key-hole' McClure, former Seneca twp luminary who was the star of the county championship team last year, was outstanding for his team. He was acting captain before the game and his passing aided greatly in what points the high school team obtained. He still has a few rough points which will be ironed out after a few games.

A. B. Sears, of Wooster College, refereed the game. Lineup and summary:

PLAY C. A. C. MONDAY

One of the feature attractions of anybody's basketball season will be seen at the Circleville Athletic Club Monday evening when the Seneca Indians from U. S. government reservations will meet the C. A. C. varsity at 8:15. A preliminary opens the evening at 7:15.

These Seneca Indians, who dubbed the club several years ago, are engaged in farming during the summer, each of them cultivating the land on the reservation given to them and to their parents by the government, and as a result of being out-of-doors most of the year round they are always in the best of condition and are able to outlast most ordinary basketball teams, through their marathon tactics.

The line-up and numbers of the Seneca Indians are as follows: Jumeron (1) and Schindles (4), forwards; Kennedy (5) center and captain; Pierce (9), Kenjockey (2), and Mt. Pleasant (3), guards.

The Seneca Indians seem to possess more stamina than white athletes, as, as an illustration, they point to their "tough" trip of one month's duration of last season, on which they have covered 5,600 miles by automobile, during which they have played 24 games, winning 16 and losing eight, and covered 10 states. That is a record, "shoot at," and it is doubtful if any white team will ever accomplish that feat, because while it may be possible for another club to travel such a long distance by automobile, it will be almost impossible to play 24 games during 30 days, with only six players making the trip, and the same five playing most of their games.

On Saturday, Feb. 15, 1930, the Seneca Indians played the Mighty

Majestic Radio Five at the Broadway Armory in Chicago, Ill., before a record crowd of over 7,000 persons, which was the largest crowd that ever attended an independent basketball game in the history of Chicago; and, by far, the largest crowd that the Seneca Indians have played to in any one game during their career.

The Seneca Indians travel more extensively during each basketball season than any other basketball club in the world.

The C. A. C. team is in good condition for the game and will present its strongest lineup.

The preliminary at 7:15 p. m. will see the Flying Clouds and the Gordon Tires tangling for the first time this season. Both teams need a victory, it being the opening for the Tires and the Clouds have faced nothing but defeat since they started their season.

ARMY AND NAVY ELEVENS READY FOR CHARITY CLASH

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Army and Navy's football elevens, whipped into a grim fighting pitch by a tremendous and unprecedented ballyhoo, will battle each other from pillar to post at Yankee Stadium this afternoon in a glamorous, post-season charity game that will draw the greatest "gate" in football history. The box office in-take will exceed $600,000, and may reach $750,000, and every dime of the proceeds will go to the unemployed.

It promises to be an epic struggle, a tingling climax to a football season replete with thrills. It brings the Army and Navy together on the gridiron for the first time since 1927 when the two service schools of Uncle Sam broke elections. It is certain to be a clean, hard-fought game for the players on both sides have been worked up to a higher surge of enthusiasm than for any other contest in which they participated during the regular season.

Fully 70,000 spectators—maybe close to 80,000—will view the spectacle. There will be present an inspiring audience, the uniformed cadets and midshipmen, major generals, admirals, business men, politicians, social registerites, movie actresses, the Mayor of New York, the Governors of nearby states, United States Senators, sports luminaries and the dyed-in-the-wool football fans. Tickets have ranged in price up to $50 for a single ticket and the show promises to be worth the money.

The game may be a sellout," said Grover A. Whalen, chairman of the Salvation Army Citizens committee, which is sponsoring the event. "However, should we find at the eleventh hour that there are a few thousand tickets unsold there will be no reduction in prices. We must keep faith with those who paid high prices to see the service team's play."

For days the most strenuous efforts have been made to stimulate interest in the game. Columns have been devoted to it in the newspapers. There have been noonday rallies in Wall Street, along Broadway and elsewhere. There have been parades, cavalcades of Army transports, band concerts and other demonstrations. Mr. Whalen and the Salvation Army have succeeded in working up a fine public response even though another big charity game is carded for Sunday between Knute Rockne's Notre Dame's All-Stars and the New York Giants. Mayor James J. Walker is running the Sunday show.

Betting odds today favored Army at 8 to 5 to defeat the Navy. The rivalry between the two service teams dates back to 1890, and all Army-Navy games have been regarded as classics, what with the color that is part of such struggles and the dash and spirit with which traditional rivals play. Army has won fifteen games, the Navy has been victorious 12 times and three contests resulted in tie scores.

PRINCIPAL, COACH AT LEAGUE MEETS

E. I. Gephart, principal of Circleville high school, and P. S. Herberholz, director of athletics, were in Columbus today to attend two important meetings, one called by the Central Buckeye League authorities and another by the Central Ohio Officials' association. Gephart attended a meeting of Central Buckeye League officials which was held at the Neil House, when a inter-school admission price was decided, which will prevail at all future games in the basketball season, and Coach Herberholz was present for the fourth annual basketball rules interpretation meeting, scheduled at the coliseum under the supervision of Ohio State University.

At 1:30, today, Calvin Bolster of Pittsburgh, and Frank Lang of Cincinnati gave a demonstration of officiating and used the Ohio State Reserve five, as his demonstrators. All visiting coaches and officials will be guests of O. S. U., tonight at the Pittsburgh-Ohio State basketball game slated at the coliseum, which will inaugurate the home season of the Buckeyes.

40 ARE HELD

(Continued From Page One.) and other "higher ups," who are believed to be involved in the graft ring, will be made until indictments are returned by the federal grand jury.

Gambling and vice interests, as well as the reputed bootleg joints, have been paying tribute for "protection" against raids, federal officials declared they discovered. Leaders of the drive stated that some of the bootleggers and gamblers have been paying from $100 to $500 a month for the privilege of operating unmolested.

The federal investigation, according to Colonel Reese, began as a campaign to ferret out liquor law violators. It soon was learned, he said, that "protection" money in huge sums was being paid by bootleggers and vice and gambling operatives.

Several events led up to the city-wide raids. It was believed that the 55 federal agents, assembled were from Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky and Tennessee, had been called as a result of a complaint by William Rankin, federal agent in charge here, that he was unable to get any co-operation from local authorities.

The drive also follows closely the unsuccessful attempt of Congressman A. J. Lee to have an investigation made by the council of the liquor vice and gambling commissions here.

FOLLOW BACKING

Now that the cage season is open, Circleville expects some victories. They can be acquired only by team-work, and that requires pulling together in every way. One individual might shoot a basket and win the game, but that one person must have the team backing him; because it takes five persons to play the game.

Students, at the time that the visitor is shooting a foul don't "boo" at him. Give him a big hand. Clean sportsmanship is still in vogue not only here at school at the basketball games, but wherever you may be. It always pays.

You can make this basketball season a success and help bring home the victories if you'll do your part. This can be accomplished by attending all the games and helping the cheerleaders yell. It's your team as much as any one's else in school. That team is playing for your school. All you need to do to give a little encouragement is to be at the games and back them.

The Tiger Cubs could help very much also by furnishing some kind of entertainment between halves. Why not have someone dressed as a tiger and send him on the floor to inform the people that C. H. S. is represented by a tiger? If the students don't inform the older people about the activities going on at C. H. S. who will?

Last year the boys were not so successful, but that doesn't mean they're going to be the same this year. Give them another chance. However, the girls were more successful having lost only two games. They should be confident this year that it will be "too bad" for all adversaries.

Dec. 19, the boys will leave to invade the Hocking-co court at Logan and are looking forward to a victory.

The girls will journey to Lancaster to "test" the Fairfield-co lassies. Are you going to back these two Tiger teams? It all depends on you!

ASK GIFTS FOR HOME-HOSPITAL

Chairman Gertrude Pigman, and Misses Emily Yates, Helen Wittich, Louise Kuhlman, and Mr. Fred Watts is the committee announced by the Principal at a high school teacher's meeting, Monday, to arrange for a program and distribution of Christmas cheer to the Home and Hospital.

Any donations such as: fruit, potatoes, canned fruit, jelly, or money taken to the high school by the pupils or parents, will be accepted by this committee. Domestic Science department pupils are making candy.

The program will be in charge of pupils selected from the Hi-Y and Girl Reserve clubs.

TO SHOOT OR TO SHOUT?

Now that our basketball season is here, we are about to lose two efficient cheerleaders for a good cause. Both of them are girls leaving the sidelines for basketball.

We recognized their ability to play basketball in the past year, and their ability as cheerleaders this year. If they play basketball, we lose two good cheerleaders; if they stick to cheerleading, we lose two efficient basketball players.

Now we ask you: What'll we do?

THANK YOU

Members of the orchestra wish to thank the W. C. T. U. for the invitation extended and every effort for a theatre party, Thursday evening, Dec. 11.

CARD OF RESPECT

We wish to express our profound sympathy to the family and many friends of Ann Edith Berry, former student of Circleville High school, who died the twelfth of December, 1930.

'CUBS' MEMBERS
ADMITTED FREE

At a meeting of the Tigers' Cubs Friday afternoon, it was announced that all members would be allowed admission free to the first two basketball games of the season, upon presentation of membership cards.

If officials of the Central league decide on an inter-school league admission price, which will probably be 25c, the Cubs will be repaid for their dollar which they invested.
